

Missy Beason, Senior
Sales Coordinator
Research Scientist
Eustis, Florida

Up until becoming pregnant with her youngest child, Missy was a research scientist for the Navy. She was in charge of research and development of sonar equipment.

Missy first learned about Juice Plus+ from her pediatrician. At the time, her daughter suffered from severe allergies and asthma. Missy saw her daughter go from being the sickest kid in the neighborhood to being the healthiest, thanks to the addition of Juice Plus+ to her daughter's diet.

Because of the health changes in her daughter, Missy found that she was recommending Juice Plus+ to everyone she knew. When the business opportunity was mentioned to her, it seemed like a logical next step.

Her Juice Plus+ business has allowed Missy to stay at home with her kids. She sees that she will be able to replace and exceed her income as a research scientist with her Juice Plus+ income. "I love being able to be a professional and still be there for my family. I rarely miss my kids' events. I am even able to have lunch with my daughter on a regular basis and get a great paycheck – is this an incredible business, or what?"
