NSA Senior Sales
Coordinator
Retired Teacher
Howell, Michigan

Wanda comes from an immediate family with a history of medical conditions including colon, skin, and lung cancers, strokes, heart disease, asthma, ALS, and emphysema. Even though both of her parents lived into their nineties, she spent much of her youth visiting hospitals. She herself would get at least 4 antibiotics a year until she was introduced to Juice Plus+ and it dramatically changed her life and her health.

Having spent 34 years in elementary school classrooms, Wanda has taught health classes to over 1,500 students during her career. During those years, though, she witnessed what the children brought in their lunch and snack boxes and what they actually ate and what they tossed in the trash. In the fall of 1998, she stood at the gravesite of a young kindergartner of hers that had just lost her battle with cancer. It was then she realized that she needed to get the message of good nutrition out to the parents instead of the children. So that spring, she refocused her life, left classroom teaching and started teaching parents about the relationship between nutrition and health. She loves that Juice Plus+ provides a simple, convenient, inexpensive way to get that much needed nutrition from a food source.

Wanda and her husband, Dr. James Turner who is a psychologist, live in Howell, MI. They spend much of their time traveling to visit their children in Hawaii, Chicago, and Rochester Hills. They love spending time with family and especially enjoy their darling granddaughter named Morgan. Wanda loves the JP+ business because she can travel and still get those wonderful paychecks each month. It's a win-win and she knows that she is making a difference in people's lives!
